Dr. Crystal Holmes named president of Michigan Podiatric Medical Association

Tuesday, March 8, 2016

Dr. Crystal Holmes was named president of the Michigan Podiatric Medical Association, (MPMA). The announcement was made at the MPMA's Great Lakes Conference. Holmes will serve as president of the MPMA through January 2018. She will guide the association's management group, Kindsvatter, Dalling & Associates, and take the lead in pursuing on-going educational programs.

Holmes received a Doctor of Podiatric Medicine (DPM) from the Ohio College of Podiatric Medicine and completed her residency at the University of Texas at San Antonio. She is currently a Clinical Assistant Professor and podiatry program director at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Holmes is also chairwoman of the Health Care Disparities subcommittee for the American Podiatric Medical Association.

Other members of the 2016 MPMA executive board include: president elect, Dr. Joyce Patouhas; secretary, Dr. Ahmed Farah; treasurer, Dr. Bruce Jacob and immediate Past President, Dr. Ali Safiedine.
